Jackie Santana

Cover Letter

This letter is to express my level of interest in regards to the job posted on your website for an experienced, detailed-oriented, front-end web developer. Besides the fact that I bring technical and cognitive acumen unequivocally, I also have the confidence, ambition, drive and the most important core aspect of all which is my determination to figure out problems. I believe my biggest attribute I preserve is my exponential ability to troubleshoot, bottom line is.. I cannot and more so WILL NOT stop until I have figured out the answer or an alternative solution to a problematic issue.

My love for coding was inspired by my passion for learning new things. As a kid I've always observed things differently and always looked at life as an opportunity to learn and experience, innovate in ways to help others. The reason why I chose to learn code is because it is a euphoric feeling knowing that you can create something from literally nothing. When I create, I feel like I'm the most powerful person in the world. I love when I stumble upon a task to be quite challenging and difficult to figure out because situations like that keeps my brain sharp and only makes me stronger. I just look at coding like one huge puzzle, just putting the pieces together until they all fit.

Coding is not just some temporary thing to me, coding is a way of life. My passion for code is an understatement, so much that I make sure I find a way to code 2-4 hours everyday even if I have to break it up into increments. I always watch motivational videos like Les Brown, Gary Vaynerchuck as well as some "Ted Talks" which is my way to keep me pumped and motivated. Coding is a way of life and I have nothing but genuine drive and hunger.

With that said, I think I align with what you're doing and believe I would be a great fit technologically and culture wise.

Looking forward to hearing back.

Kind Regards,

Jackie Santana